Solebury Police On Way to Accreditation

For the last 18 months, the Solebury Police Department has been immersed in the Pa. Chiefs of Police Association's intensive Law Enforcement Accreditation Program—a standards-driven, self-evaluation and peer-review process designed to promote professionalism in law enforcement.

Police Chief Dominick Bellizzie said he took on the rigorous process because it engages the entire force in examining the professional standards that high-functioning police departments strive to meet and helps ensure the highest possible level of local performance.

He knew his officers already held themselves to high standards, he said, and felt "it would be a feather in the Township's cap" to be recognized for it. "Our residents deserve a police department that embodies this kind of professionalism."

To qualify for accreditation, the department had to adopt the association's standards and related objectives as policy, self-evaluate the degree to which it met each one, make any needed changes to its procedures and facility, then compile evidence documenting that it meets each standard.

As an example of how the department's practices improved as a result of the self-evaluation, the chief pointed to its evidence-room procedures. To meet the standard for this element, the department reorganized how items are stored, further restricted key access, and instituted a more rigorous process for signing in and out of the area. "No matter what size the department is, procedures like these are important," he said.

In June, the association sent a team of evaluators to Solebury to conduct a one-day mock-assessment of the department—an abbreviated dry run of the actual assessment scheduled for September—in order to ensure the most successful outcome.

In the fall, the evaluators—a team of police chiefs from outside Bucks and any adjacent counties—will spend three to four days riding with Solebury officers, interviewing personnel, reviewing the department's final documentation, inspecting the premises, and more.

Chief Bellizzie said he expects to receive word of Solebury's accreditation status by the end of the year.

Since 2001, 300 law enforcement agencies have applied for accreditation from the association and a third of those have attained it.

Accreditation is good for three years. To maintain that status, departments must repeat the process. ☛

Hurricane Season Tips: Storing Water for Emergencies

According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, clean tap water can be stored for up to six months in sanitized soda bottles or milk jugs with screw-on tops. After six months, use the water for other purposes, sanitize again, and refill.

To sanitize the bottles:

- Wash the bottles with warm (not hot) soapy water.
- Fill with water plus a teaspoon of bleach per quart, let it sit for two minutes, then empty and rinse with potable water.
- Fill the sanitized jugs with tap water, cap tightly, and label with “drinking water” and the date.
- Store in a cool, dark, dry place. 📌

Keep Storm Drains Clear

Please do not blow leaves and grass clippings onto Township roads. Organic waste can clog storm drains and impede the flow of stormwater from homes, roads, and driveways. In addition, if the waste is carried by storm drains to local waterways, it can cause pollution by (1) increasing the amount of organic waste in our streams and/or (2) carrying fertilizers, herbicides, and pesticides to the water supply.

National Prescription Drug Take-Back Initiative

Safely surrender expired, unwanted, or unused prescription medicines, including controlled substances and other drugs, for destruction by law enforcement.

The exact date is to be determined, but the take-back will be held in October at (1) Solebury Police Dept., Township Hall, and (2) Giant Food Store, Logan Square.

Solebury's Deer Management Program

Why the Need Is Ongoing

White-tailed deer are graceful and beautiful animals and are a common sight in the wonderful open spaces of Solebury Township. In fact, "whitetails" have been part of Penn's Woods for centuries and are our official state animal.

However, the deer population in Pennsylvania at the time of European settlement was kept in check by natural predators and hunters and was in balance with the forest habitat of the time.

By contrast, today there are no predators to keep the population in check. Solebury engaged the Wildlife Services Division of the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture to conduct a deer density survey in March 2015, and the completed survey estimates that the animal's current population in Solebury is approximately 126 deer per square mile.

And today the needs of the animals exceed what the habitat can provide. As a consequence, deer have depleted forest understories of wildflowers, shrubs, and tree seedlings.

This long-term damage to local woodlands is visible: In many places, the remaining forest understory consists only of tree trunks and a few deer-resistant shrubs and plants.

Ripple effects of this damage include the loss of vital habitat for birds and other animals, as well as erosion throughout local watersheds due to a lack of roots to channel stormwater absorption and thereby recharge the water supply.

substantial crop losses due to deer damage every year. And it's not unusual to be surprised by running deer when driving local roads.

Solebury's Deer Management Program exists to address the need to reduce the density of the deer population, with the overarching goal of promoting a balanced ecosystem.

Among other steps, the Wildlife Services Division recommends that the Township continue to promote the safe and legal hunting of deer.

The success of this approach depends on the active involvement of Solebury landowners who allow sport hunting on their properties. Solebury has developed a database of hunters who have been screened to ensure they are experienced, licensed, and committed to the legal and humane harvesting of adequate numbers of deer.

Added benefits of cooperation are that the meat can be donated to food pantries and distributed to people in need, and that community-wide involvement will pay greater long-term dividends than single landowners working alone. 🌱

What's more, few young trees can be found in the Township's wooded spaces, which is a threat to the future biodiversity of these forests. Once this generation of trees dies out, what will be left?

Homeowners, too, see a secondary effect, as deer forage for food in their gardens and landscaping, stripping them bare. Similarly, Township farmers sustain

Township to Hold 1st Annual “Solebury Day”

Save the Date: Sept. 19, 10 AM-4 PM, Laurel Park

In a few weeks, the Township will hold its first annual “Solebury Day”—a community wide event designed to celebrate all that is Solebury by fostering community pride, promoting Township programs, and encouraging volunteerism.

The event is scheduled for Sept. 19 at Laurel Park with a rain date of Sept. 20.

Special events will include a pet parade, cake-baking competition, acoustic performances by local musicians, caricature drawings by a local artist, and community-oriented games.

A dunk tank will give participants an opportunity to test their baseball pitching skills and “sink” some local folks in the water!

Our giant dinosaur moon-bounce, balloon sculpting, face-painting, and plenty of arts and craft projects will also be fea-

Many local organizations—like the Police Department, Library, SPCA, Environmental Action Committee, Watershed Groups, Parks & Recreation Dept., Bucks County Audubon Society, and more—will offer information and demonstrations about their activities.

In addition, local restaurants and farms will have an opportunity to be present, and the snack stand will be open for business, along with Bob’s authentic barbeque food, an ice cream truck, and a pizza truck.

Fire company trucks and personnel will be on hand to promote fire safety and give children a hands-on look at their equipment.

So save the date for our first ever Solebury Day! You won’t want to miss this one. 🐾

Hurricane Season Tips: Are Your Go-Bags Ready?

Before an emergency strikes, pack a go-bag for each member of the family using backpacks or easy-carry totes. Attach I.D. tags to each and include only the essentials for a brief evacuation:

- A few changes of weather-appropriate clothing
- A sweater, jacket, hat, and rain gear
- Socks and sturdy shoes
- Toothbrush, toothpaste, hair brush/comb, deodorant
- Toilet paper, tissues, soap, shampoo
- Moist wipes and/or hand sanitizer
- A blanket or sleeping bag
- A personal flashlight
- A copy of the family’s health insurance cards
- Medicines (with instructions), glasses/contacts, hearing aids
- Identifying information and photos
- Emergency contact numbers

For responsible teenagers and adults, consider these items too:

- Emergency cash
- Spare house and vehicles keys
- A pocketknife
- First aid supplies
- Copies of important documents
- Cell phone and charger

It’s a good idea to pack a bag for pets, too. Pack as you would for a kennel stay in case the animal has to be sheltered alone. Include:

- A 3-5-day supply of food and water, instructions, and bowls
- A manual can opener for wet food
- Copies of health records (e.g., proof of vaccinations, list of medications, dosage instructions)
- An animal first-aid kit, including medications your pet needs and an antihistamine for stings and allergic reactions (You may want to dose them with flea and tick ointment beforehand to prevent an infestation in close quarters.)
- Toys and treats
- A collar and leash with license and I.D. tags
- Contact information for you, plus a photo of your pet for I.D.
- Contact information for your veterinarian, plus any emergency animal clinics you use
- Litter, litter box, scoop, and waste bags for cats
- Waste bags for dogs
- Paper towels, moist wipes, and cleaning supplies 🐾

Police Offer Fall Safety Tips

Police Chief Dominick Bellizzie encourages parents to stress the back-to-school and Halloween safety issues below with their children. “Also, as drivers, we all need to pay attention to the activity of children at school bus stops, to the school buses on our roads, and to parents dropping children off at schools and bus stops,” he said.

Back-to-School Safety

- Team up with other parents to supervise children at the bus stop.
- Teach your children to:
  - Follow the same safe route to school or the bus stop each day and cross safely at corners.
  - Pay attention to traffic hazards and not to rush.
  - Stay out of the roadway when waiting for buses.
  - Wait for the red stop-arm to fall and the bus door to open, then look both ways, before boarding.
  - Sit quickly, talk quietly, and obey the bus driver.
  - Look both ways when exiting the school bus.
- If you drive your children to school:
  - Decrease traffic by carpooling.
  - Follow the school’s posted traffic flow signs.
  - Observe the 15 mph limit in school zones.
- Adjust commuting times to allow for school traffic.
- Make sure there are no obstacles on your property, like overgrown landscaping, that may make it hard for drivers to see children waiting for the school bus.
- When school traffic causes delays, remember that the road is not the place to make up lost time.
- Always be alert for children darting between cars and crossing streets, especially on Halloween.

Trick-or-Treat Safety

- Use only fire-retardant materials for costumes.
- Make costumes fit loosely, so kids can wear warm clothes underneath.
- Select costumes that do not cause tripping.
- Attach strips of reflective tape to costumes and treat bags so children are more visible.
- Choose nontoxic make-up over masks, so children can see and breathe better.
- Do not allow children to carry sharp objects.
- Supervise children under 12 while trick-or-treating.
- Direct older children to carry cell phones, travel in groups, and follow a preset route.
- Encourage children to walk, rather than run.
- Tell them not to enter homes without adult supervision.
- Be sure youngsters know to walk on sidewalks, not in the street or through dark yards.
- Insist that treats be brought home for inspection before they are eaten.
- Feed children before trick-or-treating so they are not tempted to snack.
- Wash and slice fruit into small pieces before eating.
- When in doubt, throw it out.
