Township Updates Sewage Management Plan

Changes to Pa. Act 537 Demand More Detailed Planning

In keeping with changes to the state's Sewage Facilities Act—also known as Act 537—Solebury has resumed its revision of the Township Sewage Management Plan.

When the Solebury Messenger went to press, a partial draft—started a few years ago—was in the process of being completed; the full draft is expected to be posted on the Township website in the spring.

First adopted in 1966, Act 537 requires Pennsylvania municipalities to plan for the sewage disposal needs of their residents—either by providing centralized sewer services or by enforcing state standards and regulations for the construction of multi-home and individual on-lot septic systems.

More recently, the Pa. Dept. of Environmental Protection (DEP) added a higher level of planning and governance to these requirements, which has forced most municipalities to extensively revise earlier plans.

In addition to meeting the new requirements, Solebury wants the revision to embrace the vision of sustainability outlined in the Township's Comprehensive Plan.

Since the conservation and protection of the Township's water supply are central to that vision, the new plan will strive to prevent any treated or discharged sewage from diminishing local water quality and potentially harming residents' health.

Study Process

CET Engineering Services of Harrisburg, Trevoise, and Huntington Valley began the revision process by first surveying the Township to develop a profile of Solebury's sewage disposal needs, capabilities, problems, and limitations.

The engineers surveyed 320 existing sanitary systems from 13 different areas of the Township (Solebury has roughly 2,500 on-lot systems in all). In addition, they examined 310 wells for signs of possible sewage contamination, with a focus on areas of the Township that are more densely popu-

WINTER FESTIVAL PARADE brightened Bridge Street January 28. Many local nonprofit organizations created floats—like the one above crafted by the New Hope Chamber of Commerce to showcase Winter Festival events. The Philadelphia Uptown String Band, Philadelphia Freedom Band, Lambertville Volunteers Drum and Bugle Corps, and South Hunterdon Regional High School Marching Band kept the beat, while N.J. Renaissance Faire revelers, President Washington & Coryell's Landing reenactors, a stilt walker, and many others marched.

Dear Taxpayer:

Through the Solebury Messenger, the Board of Supervisors gives you, the taxpayer, firsthand information about Township matters. In these pages, you will read about what is being done to preserve and improve the quality of life as you know it, as well as how your hard-earned tax dollars are being spent.

The Solebury Messenger is created by Kay Hayes and Marie Collins, of School Window Publications; the newsletter celebrated its 15-year anniversary with the publication of the Nov. 2010 issue.

This bimonthly periodical is primarily ad-sponsored—a method which allows the Township to provide taxpayers with six professional newsletters each year for a fraction of the actual cost. To place an advertisement supporting this periodical, contact Kay at 609-397-8483.

If you live in the Township, but are not currently receiving a copy of the Solebury Messenger through the mail, please contact Kay so that she can add your name and address to our mailing list.

Other correspondence should be directed to the appropriate Township official. For more information, see the Township directory on page 7.

Planning a Winter Getaway?

Police Dept. Warns of Vacation Safety Issues

While you may think of the summer as vacation prime time, criminals also see winter getaways—especially those that take place on lengthy school breaks—as opportunities for burglaries.

Police Chief Dominick Bellizzi urges residents to “make your home look lived-in when you go away.”

In particular:

- Let friends and neighbors know when you will be away for vacation.
- Before you leave, let police know exactly when you will be away and how you can be reached.
- If you are leaving a car home, ask a neighbor to move it each day.
- Set any alarms and be sure the alarm company knows how to reach you.

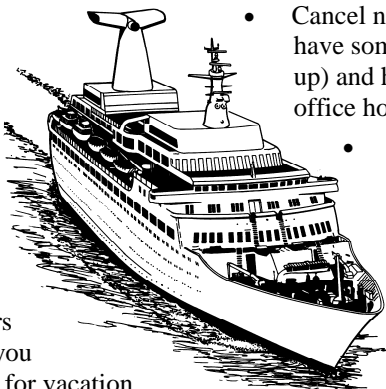

- Don't leave trash or recycling cans at the roadside for pickup—ask a neighbor to move the cans for you at the appropriate times.

- Cancel newspapers (or have someone pick them up) and have the post office hold your mail.

- Set timers to turn lights on and off intermittently (don't leave the porch light—or other outside light—on all day and night).

- Lock all doors and windows.
- Don't leave valuables in plain sight.

For help with any non-emergency home safety concerns, contact Township Police at 215-297-8201 during business hours. 📞

lated and a goal of learning what kinds of problems exist and why.

The firm also reviewed the repair history of 72 on-lot systems to establish trends.

The information gleaned during the study process will be used to inform the firm's recommendations.

What the Plan Means for Residents

The final Sewage Management Plan is expected to explain how residents and the Township will work together to protect public health and the environment from sewage contamination.

The revised plan will define standards for private septic systems, describe Solebury's process for monitoring those systems, discuss maintenance requirements for on-lot systems, and propose solutions for any existing sewage problems.

Once the plan and ordinance are adopted, residents who have on-lot systems will be required to have them pumped out and inspected every three years, on a cycle to begin with the adoption of the ordinance.

Revision Timeline

The adoption of a municipal Sewage Management Plan includes passage through both local and state channels, which can take more than a year.

First, the Township completes its review of the draft plan, holds a 30-day public comment period, decides whether to further revise the documents based on comments, and then adopts the draft plan.

Next, the DEP reviews the locally adopted draft plan, which can take up to 120 days.

Depending on the revisions required as a result of the review, DEP approval of the plan may take several additional months.

After the plan is state-approved, the Township must then revise its ordinances to align with the plan. 📞

Aquetong Watershed Association Completes Watershed Assessment

Recommends Action Plan to Protect Water Supply

AQUETONG WATERSHED ASSOCIATION

aquetongwatershed.org

The Aquetong Watershed Association recently completed a comprehensive two-year assessment of the Aquetong Creek watershed with help from a Pa-DEP Growing Greener grant, paid consultants, and more than 50 dedicated volunteers, Association Treasurer Les Isbrandt reported.

The Bucks County Conservation District managed grant funds for the association.

The assessment engaged experts in evaluating existing data as well as in collecting new data on the eight-square-mile watershed, which spans parts of Solebury and New Hope.

Findings suggest that the watershed as a whole and its 23 miles of streams appear to be healthy now, but show signs of stress related to development and use.

Concerted action is needed to protect the future quality and quantity of the water supply, Les said. On the basis of the assessment's findings and observations, the association has identified a range of actions to protect and conserve the watershed, some of which follow.

Water Quality

Homeowners with private wells that supply drinking water have responsibilities to their families and the community to monitor and safeguard the water supply.

Action: Develop a well-testing education program and provide guidance to encourage homeowners to have their well water tested annually to ensure safe water quality.

Under Act 537, each municipality is required to have a DEP-approved sewage facilities plan.

Action: Help to educate property owners with on-lot septic systems on good management practices that reduce the potential for contamination of the water supply.

Moderate-to-high nitrate levels are present in surface water and groundwater as a result of fertilizers from residential and agricultural sources.

Action: Help educate property owners on how to increase the use of meadows and rain gardens and apply fewer chemicals to lawns; and work with local conservation districts and the county agricultural officials to improve agricultural practices.

Water Quantity

Various studies conducted by Solebury estimate that the Aquetong watershed may incur a water deficit of as much as 500,000 gallons per day in normal precipitation years and 750,000 gallons a day in drought years, with lower deficits in years of higher-than-average rainfall.

Due to increasing strain on supply—such as population growth, continued exporting of wastewater to Lambertville, and changes in weather patterns—two successive drought years could present significant additional challenges to the water supply.

Action: Encourage all residents to conserve the water supply through behavioral and engineering practices.

Watershed Conservation, Protection, and Preservation

Local streams, ponds, and lakes experience elevated temperatures on hot summer days, which impair stream conditions.

These higher water temperatures are exacerbated by the impact of dams, impervious surfaces (like parking lots and roads), and lack of adequate tree cover along streambanks.

Action: Continue to seek ways to reduce the amount of water subjected to dams, improve stormwater and impervious surface ordinances, protect riparian buffers from encroachment, encourage people to stop mowing down to the streambanks, and plant more trees.

Development along the Route 202 corridor will create more impervious surfaces and runoff into Aquetong Creek.

Action: Work to improve green and low-impact development practices, and create demonstration projects to protect stream corridors.

Riparian buffers play a key role in protecting streams from encroachment, pollutants, and excessive runoff.

Action: Be vigilant in finding ways to protect, preserve, and improve these areas from development, poor land-use practices, and poor maintenance habits.

The region's infrastructure was severely damaged and altered by the combined impact of Hurricane Irene and Tropical Storm Lee in 2011. If the natural resource protections that were enacted in the last two decades had not been in place, the impacts of these storms would have been even more severe.

Action: Continue to strengthen ordinances; participate in any comprehensive planning conducted by the Township; and work with local governments on the key findings of the assessment and problem areas identified.

The overabundance of invasive plants and dense deer population crowd out or destroy native flora and generally distort the ecological balance of the forests.

Action: Encourage both municipalities to develop a long-term and integrated program to find ways to restore the balance, by working first in designated areas near the headwaters of main streams and proceeding downstream to mitigate negative impacts throughout the watershed.

Aquetong Lake and Aquetong Spring (also known as Ingham Lake and Spring) are both valuable assets of the Aquetong watershed and our community.

Action: Encourage Solebury Township to diligently develop the Aquetong Lake property for the community. The dam and cold water bypass issues are clear mandates for the Township.

Other Beneficial Actions

The association offers the following reminders as a guide to actions that support the watershed:

- Chill Out: Reduce dam impact, increase tree canopy, improve riparian buffers.
- May Not Last Forever: Don't take water supply and quality for granted.
- Get Smart(er): Strive for more natural resource protection, not less.
- Go Native: Take back areas decimated by invasive plants.
- Let's Talk: Maintain an open dialog with residents and Township officials.

What Can You Do?

Unless someone like YOU cares a whole lot, nothing is going to get better.

—Dr. Seuss

- Go for a walk and become aware of what's happening around you.
- Plant native, non-invasive plants and trees.
- Inspect and maintain your private well and septic field.
- Test your drinking water or read your utility's water quality reports.
- Get informed and get involved: Join a watershed association.

Supervisors Recognize Volunteers

The 2012 Board of Supervisors is pleased to present the Township residents who have volunteered to staff the Township's advisory boards and committees in 2012.

"While we engage professionals in many key capacities, local government functions in large part because Solebury residents step forward to staff our advisory boards and committees," explained Supervisor Chair Robert Heath, Jr.

"Many communities struggle to find volunteers," he noted, "but we have a long tradition of participatory democracy in Solebury, and we take a lot of pride in that."

Please join the supervisors in thanking your neighbors for their service. 🙏
